THE South-Carolina GAZETTE.

From TUESDAY January 15th, to TUESDAY January 22d, 1754.

The SPEECH of His Excellency JAMES GLEN, Eſq; Governor in Chief, and Captain-General, in and over His Majeſty's Province of South-Carolina, delivered to the General Aſſembly of the ſaid Province met at Charles-Town, on the 16th Day of January, 1754.

Honorable Gentlemen,
Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen,

MY long Reſidence in this Province, and the near Relation I have the Honor to ſtand in to you, inſpire the warmeſt Wiſhes for your Welfare. And as it is the peculiar Excellence of His Majeſty's Government, that all His Subjects may be happy if they will, I have called you together, that you may conſult, whether any Thing be wanting to render your Happineſs compleat; and I ſhall lay before you ſuch Matters as may be proper to be the Subject of your Deliberation and Debate at this Meeting.

The Friendſhip of the Indian Nations around us, is of the greateſt Importance, and therefore to be cultivated with the greateſt Care; and I can aſſure you, that the Attention given by the Governor and Council, to all Indian Affairs in general, is equal to the Importance of them.

The Cherokee Indians have, for many Years paſt, earneſtly prayed to have Forts built in their Country, and the Governor, in the Preſence, and at the Deſire, of both Houſes of Aſſembly, has promiſed that a Fort ſhould be built there, but the Indians have as publickly accuſed us of Breach of Promiſe; and therefore, to wipe away this Reproach, and alſo to [illegible]

Toil and Fatigue; but I have now the Pleaſure to acquaint you, that the Fort is fully finiſhed: It ſeems to give great Satisfaction to the Indians, and I hope, may contribute to the Safety of our back Settlements, and the Security of the Britiſh Trade.

At the ſame Time I acquaint you, that the Accounts I have from all our other Indians, are very agreeable, and breathe nothing but Peace and Friendſhip: And while I thus congratulate you on the Proſpect of Peace around us, let me alſo rejoice with you, for the great Plenty that is among us. Our chief, and almoſt our ſole, Dependance hitherto, hath been on RICE, but we have now happily found out other Reſources; we no longer plant INDICO by Way of Experiment, our Succeſs in it ſeems to be certain, and the Culture and Manufacture of it are nearly brought to Perfection; and therefore I recommend it to you, to cauſe ſome ſhort Account of the whole Proceſs to be printed, and diſperſed among the People in the outward Parts; and alſo, that ſome Indico Seed be diſtributed, at the Public Expence, in each of the new Townſhips, and in other Parts where the Poverty of the Inhabitants make ſuch Supplies neceſſary.

The People in Amelia, Saxe-Gotha and New-Windſor, tho' they are old ſettled Townſhips, yet have never had any Miniſter or Schoolmaſter amongſt them, and there are ſeveral Thouſands of Settlers near them, upon the Wateree, Saludy, and Broad-River, and Stephens's Creek, in the ſame Situation: This is truly a great Evil, but admits of a Cure: It will perhaps be more difficult to relieve them from another, that the Courts of Judicature are too far from them: It is unneceſſary for me to expatiate upon this Subject, ſo commonly known; but, unleſs they are ſpeedily relieved, I am afraid they muſt be ſoon ruined, or driven from thoſe Places, where they have been planted with ſo much Care, and at ſo great Expence to the Public: It is true, ſome Years ago the Legiſlature took that Matter into Conſideration, but the Remedy propoſed was diſapproved of by His Majeſty; but let us not conclude, that becauſe His Majeſty diſapproved of what we formerly did, that therefore we are for ever precluded from ſeeking a proper Remedy.

The Reign of a good King, is a Seaſon when Defects in Policy and Government may beſt be ſupplied, and ſuch Favours obtained by the People as their Circumſtances require: And as the glorious Reign of our preſent Sovereign, a great Part of which, I hope, is yet to come, muſt ſhine in our Annals, a Pattern to future Princes, be it your Care, Gentlemen, that when your Poſterity ſhall read what will be recorded of the Felicity of theſe Times, they may have Reaſon to honor the Wiſdom of this General Aſſembly, who watched the Seaſons, and procured for them, all that could be reaſonably expected, by a Loyal People, from a Gracious Prince.

JAMES GLEN.

To His Excellency JAMES GLEN, Eſq; Governor, Captain-General and Commander in Chief, in and over His Majeſty's Province of SOUTH-CAROLINA.

The Humble ADDRESS of the Council of the ſaid Province.

May it pleaſe your Excellency,

WE, His Majeſty's moſt Dutiful and Loyal Subjects the Council of this Province, beg Leave to return your Excellency our Thanks for your Speech delivered this Day in General Aſſembly.

[illegible] ſeveral Matters, which, for thoſe Ends, your Excellency is pleaſed to recommend to us.

We congratulate with your Excellency, on the Peace and Plenty which His Majeſty's People of this Province enjoy: And we join with your Excellency, in the moſt ardent Wiſhes, for a long Continuance of the glorious and happy Reign, which Providence has appointed as a Source of Bleſſings to Britiſh Subjects.

By Order of the Council,
Jan. 16th, 1754.

To which His Excellency made the following ANSWER.

Honorable Gentlemen,

I Thank you for this Loyal Addreſs; your conſtant Practice is an undeniable Proof of the Sincerity of your Profeſſions: And you judge very rightly, that the moſt agreeable Manner in which you can expreſs your Senſe of my Services to the Public, is, by continuing to co-operate with me in the Service of your King and Country.

To His Excellency JAMES GLEN, Eſq; Governor, Captain-General and Commander in Chief, in and over His Majeſty's Province of SOUTH-CAROLINA.

The Humble ADDRESS of the Houſe of Aſſembly of the ſaid Province.

May it pleaſe your Excellency,

WE, His Majeſty's moſt Dutiful and Loyal Subjects the Houſe of Aſſembly, beg Leave to return your Excellency our hearty Thanks for your Speech Yeſterday delivered to us; and take this Opportunity of congratulating your Excellency on your ſafe Return from the Indian Country, and your having eſcaped the Injuries which Fatigue and Toil are often attended with.

We are truly ſenſible of the Happineſs peculiar to His Majeſty's Subjects, remote as we are from His Majeſty's Royal Preſence; and we are aſſured, this Happineſs was never more compleat than it is at preſent, under the benign Influence of His Majeſty's Government; a Conſideration, which muſt give us the moſt ſanguine Hopes of meeting with Succeſs in any Meaſures we ſhall concert for His Majeſty's Service and the Welfare of His People repreſented by us, for we ſhall look upon His Majeſty's Intereſt and our own as inſeparably united; and in ſuch Sentiments, there cannot be any Doubt of finding your Excellency unanimous with us.

Beſides the Attention beſtowed by your Excellency and His Majeſty's Council on Indian Affairs, we aſſure your Excellency, the preſerving the ſeveral Nations of Indians around us in a State of Obedience to His Majeſty, and in Friendſhip with ourſelves, was a Concern which this Houſe, as well as former Houſes of Aſſembly, always attended to with great Aſſiduity; and that the Public of this Province have, for many Years paſt, been at very great Expences to ſecure an Alliance with them: But we are ſo ſorry to ſay, from ſeveral Inſtances, neither your Excellency's, nor our Endeavours, have been ſo available as we could wiſh. We are however hopeful, the building a Fort near the Cherokee's, may prove ſome Check to their future Inſults.

The Improvements made in the Manufacture of Indico, and the Succeſs which the planting of that Commodity has lately met with, muſt neceſſarily prove an Encouragement for a more general Cultivation of it, and which we ſhall, on our Part, take proper Meaſures to promote, being an Article of Com- [illegible] Their Want of Miniſters for the Exerciſe of Divine Service, ſhall be duly conſidered; and tho' the former Method concerted by the Legiſlature here, for the Adminiſtration of Juſtice nearer to them, was not approved of by His Majeſty, we ſtill hope that very deſirable and neceſſary Relief may be contrived for them, which will prove effectual: But theſe Matters ſhall be duly attended to, with ſuch other Things as ſhall occur to us in our Public Deliberations; for, as your Excellency juſtly obſerves, the Reign of a good King is the proper Seaſon for ſupplying Defects in Policy and Government; and we ſhould be much wanting in the Duty we owe to our Conſtituents, did we not improve the Advantages we enjoy under the Auſpices of His preſent Majeſty's gracious Reign, as we look upon Him, under God, the real Fountain of our preſent Felicity, ſo we may rely on Him for Redreſs in all neceſſary Applications.

By Order of the Houſe,
In the Houſe of Aſſembly, the 17th of Jan. 1754.

To which His Excellency made the following ANSWER.

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen,

THE Zeal and Loyalty of the good People of this Province cannot be better expreſſed in Words, than by this dutiful Addreſs of their Repreſentatives; and, from the Experience of many Years, I can vouch that their Behaviour has been becoming and ſuitable to theſe Profeſſions. I pray, God may long preſerve His Majeſty's precious Life, and you will have many Opportunities of repeating ſuch affectionate Addreſſes; for, while he lives, you will have reiterated Reaſon for ſo doing.

The kind Notice that you are pleaſed to take of my Endeavours to ſerve the Public, are very agreeable to me: I am proud of the Praiſes of the People, but I ſhall ever be more ſollicitous to deſerve them.

The

The HUMOURIST, No. IV.

Let every Thing have its due Place.

ROSCOMMON.

AN Author ought to make Choice of thoſe Subjects that beſt ſuit his Genius; and there is as cogent a Reaſon for dieting himſelf, by which Expreſſion I would be willingly underſtood to mean, that an Author, ambitious of the Public Voice, ſhould ſuit his Diet to the Nature of the Subject under Conſideration: Mr. Bayes, in the Rehearſal, acquaints us, that he always took ſtew'd Prunes whenever he propoſed to write.

Men of the moſt peculiar Turn may ſometimes hit upon a lucky Thought: I own Mr. Bayes's candid Declaration has had a ſurpriſing Effect upon me, and as I find his Scheme reducible to the niceſt Point of Reaſon, I ſhall eternally follow his great Example. All the World knows what a cloſe Connexion there is between the mental and corporeal Faculties; conſider then, what infinite Advantages an Author muſt conſequently reap, from ſuch a Regimen as tends to purge the Excrements of the Brain: I dare affirm, that the Song of the Old-Engliſh Roaſt-Beef was compoſed after an hearty Exerciſe of the manual Engines upon it.

The Moderns are greatly inveighed againſt for want of Genius, but, upon the Faith of an honeſt Man, I really attribute any Defects in them as ariſing from their own Negligence: If Writers and People of good natural Parts, will run headlong againſt the Rules of right Reaſon, they, ſans Doute, muſt lie open to the Inconveniences attending this Precipitation.

A Man may with equal Propriety eat Beef and drink Porter in a Fever, as accuſtom himſelf to ſome particular Kinds of Diet during a Courſe of Lucubration.

I am for a ſeaſonable Allowance of Food, for in Truth it is full as bad to eat none, as it is to eat improperly.

I was inclined the other Day to write a Tragedy, and after being for ſome Time loſt in Thought, and panting for Expreſſion to paint ſome cruel Incidents, I threw down my inky Slave, fatally calling to mind, that I had been devouring Cakes, Flummery and Whip-Syllabub; theſe are too tender, too ſoft, to raiſe and animate the Paſſions, or aſſiſt an Author in repreſenting the Horror of a Battle, the claſhing of Arms, or the nodding Wheels of brazen Chariots: In the midſt of theſe Reflections, I was delivered from my Anxiety by a delightful Sentiment; happy the Moment when I firſt indulged it! I ordered a large Quantity of Black-puddings to be made, in order to give a proper Lentor to the Juices, and familiariſe the Soul to bloody Thoughts.

If a Man has a Turn for Epigrams, I would heartily recommend to him a few Jellies of his own making, as a Means of recalling to his Mind, that an Epigram ſhould reſemble a Jelly-Bag, ſharp at the End.

A Paſtoral Writer muſt addict himſelf to the primitive Way of living; Vegetables for his Diet, and for his Drink the purling Stream. As for the Satyriſt, he of Courſe muſt conform to Crab-Apples, Nettle-tops, and Vinegar; a fine Acid is a vaſt Help to a Satyr.

As I have enumerated ſeveral kinds of Food proper for the various Turns of Writers, I ſhall mention a few Things which are abſolutely deſtructive to the Intellect, and ought to be avoided.

Cuſtard is a moſt barbarous Thing; Trajan got his Death by it at Antioch, and many a good Alderman has experienced the bad Qualities accruing from too intimate a Connexion with it; I do firmly believe, that it obnubilates the Underſtanding and hurts the Memory: Tom Brown gives you its Degrees, "eating of Cuſtard firſt gives a [illegible], inſtantly turns to a Dolor Ilii, that to a Peripneumonia in the Diaphragm, that to an Empyema in the Glandula Pinealis." I have totally forbid the Uſe of them near me, and hope that other People will endeavour to put a Stop to their Progreſs.

The judicious [illegible], in his Diatribe de uſu [illegible] in Controverſiis Eccleſiaſticis, affirms, that Currants excite Choler, and Sugar has a bad Effect upon the Diaphragm and Aſpera Arteria.

There are innumerable other Things which ought to be totally diſregarded; but thoſe above-mentioned will prevent any Man for riſing as an Author, and they are ſo powerful in ſpoiling his Capacity, as [illegible] is effectual for the Cure of the Tooth-Ach.

EPIGRAM upon a perfumed Spark.

EXcuſe my Bluntneſs Sir, but Men that ſmell
So much perfum'd (I think) do not ſmell well.

The Humouriſt will not think it a Trouble to read, what the Author of the Letter to him in the laſt Paper, ſhall ſee fit to communicate.

LONDON, November 10.

We hear a plan for building a magnificent palace at St. James's, has been laid before his majeſty.

We hear that ſome additional ſtrength is intended to be made to the ſeveral fortifications in Scotland, next ſummer; and that a new fort is to be erected near Arderſeir point.

The laſt advices from Berlin ſay, that the charter for eſtabliſhing a bank in that city, almoſt on the ſame footing as the bank of Amſterdam, has paſſed the ſeals.

We hear that ſome freſh remonſtrances have been tranſmitted to his excellency the earl of Albemarle, on the ſubject of the French digging round Dunkirk, and repairing ſome of the fortifications of that place, formerly deſtroyed by treaty.

This day his majeſty enter'd into the 71ſt Year of his Age: And it is remarkable that he is the oldeſt monarch that ever ſat on the Engliſh throne, (whereon may he long continue!) no king or queen of England having ever attained to his preſent majeſty's age.

CHARLES-TOWN, January 15.

Saturday laſt came an Account from Providence, that the Schooner Philadelphia, of this Port, Archibald Borland Maſter, bound from Winyah for Jamaica, was, on the 27th of December laſt, drove aſhore and beat to Pieces on Crooked Iſland: The People's Lives were ſaved.

Saturday Evening arrived Capt. Chiſman, from London, by whom we have very little News. The ſame Evening Mr. William Stone (Merchant) was married to Miſs Waldron a Paſſenger in the ſaid Ship, and a Lady capable of rendering the Nuptial State the greateſt Happineſs.

Juſt arrived, a Snow from Lancaſter, Giles Heyſham Maſter.

There are now in this Harbour, 16 Ships, 18 Snows, 5 Brigantines, 8 Schooners, and 9 Sloops.
